Eagle Scout Nat Owings Decided At Jamboree In Europe To Become An Architect, Hence Coast Plan

By RAYLYN PENNEY

Nathaniel A. (Nat) Owings, once of Indiana and now of Big Sur, San Francisco and the West Coast in general, says the coast line south of Malpaso Creek is "the fringe on a beautiful shawl." "Or if you prefer," he said, switching metaphors rapidly, "the cream on a bottle of milk, the front yard of a fine estate."

You don't rip up such a fringe, he said, nor throw out the cream, nor mess up your front yard. If you can prevent it, that is. And we can prevent it.

Owings, central figure in the controversial Monterey Coast master plan for preservation of the area between Malpaso Creek south to the San Luis Obispo County line and from the Pacific Ocean to the crest of the Santa Lucia mountain range, is senior partner in the firm of planning consultants, Skidmore, Owings and Merrill, which was hired last year by the County of Monterey to produce a workable guide to the future of some of the county's loveliest scenery.

Encompassed by the master plan is the correlative objective of having the 72-mile stretch of Highway One which winds through the area designated a scenic route and become thus immune to freeway-type planning.

In the words of Owings which appear on the plan itself, "Land adjacent to the road should be kept as free as possible from residential or commercial developments where these would mar the scenic values . . . new construction should be confined to the area east of the meandering line on the inland side of the road . . . that those who use the road and all who live near it may enjoy the view of the ocean, unsubstructed by misplaced houses, fences and planting screens, and may see the mountains unscarred by slides and erosion resulting from reckless bulldozing in the building of private homes."

Trustees Decide To Review Religious Instruction Policy

The Carmel District School Board agreed on a letter to be sent to the Monterey County Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union last night, saying in effect that released time from school for religious instruction has never been a problem in Carmel schools, but adding that its own board rule on the matter "needs generalizing" and perhaps reformulating.

In response to a letter from Joseph Wythe, local chairman of the ACLU, asking the board for "your position with reference to the wisdom or need of granting the request for released time," which has been at issue in court in a number of states with varying decisions, the school board quoted a board rule which says:

"In case a student attends late Mass, he will be excused from classes until 10:00 a.m. on the date of such attendance. . . . It should be noted that this puts an extra burden on teachers for special assignments and correction work, and students concerned miss class discussion. Students are urged, for this reason, to attend early Mass whenever possible."

"This was adopted in 1948," the board's letter said, "through cooperation of families and the Roman Catholic Church (the only church concerned). . . . This amounts to a total for two Carmel schools, high school and intermediate school, of four or five students per year for an hour or so each."

Trustee Dr. Robert Newton said, "It (the policy) may need examination but it's not possible to formulate a new policy tonight."

Mrs. Herbert Blank, trustee, said she questioned whether "mas" and "religious instruction" meant the same thing.

Board member Dr. Richard Snyder suggested an addition to the letter saying, "The letter from the ACLU has precipitated a possible reconsideration of board policy and at least one board member feels it should be generalized so as to apply to all religious groups."

Scenic Highway System State Planners To Meet In Carmel Wednesday

Carmel will be the center of planning for scenic highways for the State of California on Wednesday when the state's Inter-Departmental Committee on Scenic Highways meets in an all-day session in the council chambers at City Hall, starting at 10:00 o'clock in the morning.

Meeting with the state committee for the first time on this occasion will be a citizen's advisory committee appointed by the Honorable Hugh M. Burns, president pro tem of the California Senate, and the Honorable Jesse Urubie, Speaker of the Assembly, also representatives from ten state organizations concerned with conservation, planning and preservation of California's scenic resources.

Others were invited to the meeting by State Senator Fred Farr (D-Carmel) investigator of legislation for scenic highways in this state. In addition, Senator Farr has asked Carmel City Councilman Francis Whitaker to join the

Small Firms In Carmel Thrive, Council Learns

Carmel is still a city where small businesses grossing $20,000 or less per year exceed in number all other firms in 16 categories, the city council learned last night in an analysis of gross sales and business license revenue prepared by City Clerk-Comptroller Larry Rose.

Second in point of numbers are businesses grossing $30,000 or less annually. In third place are firms grossing $5,000 or less a year and in fifth place are those with a gross yearly income of $10,000 or less.

Firms in all these categories showed substantial increases last year over gross income for 1959.

Loss in revenue was shown in four categories: businesses with a gross intake per year of $70,000, $80,000, $90,000 and $500,000 or less. Firms grossing $200,000 and $400,000 a year or less showed over one million dollars' increase in gross income in 1960-61 as compared to the year before.

Nine categories showed more businesses operating than the year before; six categories showed fewer firms in business than the year before; only one category, $30,000 or less per year, stayed unchanged from the previous year in point of number of firms in operation.

Business license tax revenue from all firms in Carmel in 1960-61 was $16,251 based on total gross business of $19,271,354, an increase of $2,180 to the city over 1959-60, the report showed.

This city revenue from business licenses is based on a graduated mill tax per dollar of gross business revenue. Businesses in upper income brackets pay less per dollar business license tax on their gross revenue than those in the upper gross income echelons, the report indicates. A firm grossing

City Council Adopts CD Plan, Protests New Liquor License

Before the city council started work on a 44-item agenda last night, Admiral C. W. Fisher, president of the 425-member Carmel Citizens Committee protested warning flags to inform councilmen that he and his group think it is time to decide "which way Carmel wants to go. To be either a bustling money-making city or a quiet cultural community noted for its scenic beauty and residential character."

Then the council plunged into the agenda and acted on matters varying from the adoption of an interim civil defense and disaster plan for the city to whether or not ordinances prohibiting the drinking of intoxicating liquor, also sleeping on the beach should be rigidly enforced.

The disaster plan will be in effect until March, 1962. After that Carmel will have a permanent plan for such emergencies that may arise from a B or H bomb disaster.

Mayor Frank Putnam heads the city's disaster council. Five Chief Robert Smith is his assistant. City Clerk Larry Rose is deputy director.

The area under the control of the council is bounded on the north by Del Monte Properties.

The second Monterey County Planning Commission public hearing on the Coast Master Plan will be held Tuesday afternoon, starting at 1:30 o'clock, in the Supervisors Chambers in the County Courthouse, Salinas.

At the September hearing on the Coast Plan an equal number of persons spoke for and against the zoning proposal for coast property from Malpaso Creek south to the San Luis Obispo County line.

City councilmen, last night, granted a month's leave of absence to Lucille Ray of the city's administrative staff so that she may vacation through December in Hawaii. They also authorized Lila Kawananakoa to replace Mrs. Ray during her absence. Aloha: the council said to both.

Veterans Day is this Saturday. Members of Carmel's administrative staff will observe the holiday on Monday and City Hall will be closed all day.

The city council, on a tree tour meeting Tuesday, refused the request of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Carpenter to cut down a cypress on Scenic Drive. However, they gave the Carpenters permission to trim and thin branches of the tree under the supervision of the Superintendent of Streets.

Councilman said Hicks could re-

FRIDAY NIGHT CARMEL GRIDDERS AT PG

Carmel		5	1
Pacific Grove		4	2
Hollister		4	2
Gilroy		4	2
Gonzales		2	4
San Lorenzo		0	6

With a desperate hope that Gonzales can do them a favor by upsetting King City, Carmel High's football squads invade Pacific Grove this Friday night to do battle with the arch-rival Breakers. A win over the Breakers and a King City loss to Gonzales would give the Padres a share of the B-Division title which has graced the Carmel High trophy case for the last four years. As fleeting as a Gonzales upset of the mighty Mustangs appears to be, history has shown that anything can happen when natural rivals hook up in football combat. While the Padres are pulling for a Gonzales victory they are also buckling down to avoid getting upset by the underdog Pacific Grove eleven. With both teams primed for action and spirit running high at both schools, this one could go either way, but the Padres enjoy a weight and speed advantage which could be tough for the Breakers to overcome.

Friday night's action at Pacific Grove closes out the season for the Padres and finishes the prep grid careers of 21 Red & Grey performers. Donning the Carmel High spangles for the last time

Opening lineup for the Padre varsity Friday night will be a backfield quartet of Dan Holman, Steve Fairchild, Lee Oleson and George Pollock. Manning the line spots will be Rich Shively and Pat Olmsted, ends; Jim Kelly and Pete Morse, tackles; Dick Loffelmacher and Bob Albee, guards; and Dave Harris, center.

Carmel's potent junior-varsity squad will open with Stan Smith and Phil Zobel, ends; Bob Wells and Claude Dechow, tackles; Dave Preve and Lynn Smith, guards; Bill Hill, center; Al Nishimura, quarterback; Gary Mumford and Dennis Clark, halfbacks; and Marlin Fluegge, fullback.

Other B-Division games on tap this Friday night are Gilroy at Hollister and Live Oak at San Lorenzo Valley.

LIVE OAK GRIDDERS NO MATCH FOR PADRES

Outclassed and outmanned in all three divisions, Live Oak High School's football teams proved easy prey for the hard-hitting Carmel High teams last Saturday afternoon at Bardarson Field and kept their winless records intact as the Padres powered to three victories on the muddy turf. The Carmel lightweights set the tempo for the afternoon by clipping the Little Acorns, 32 to 0; the junior-varsity gave the Live Oak jayvees exactly the same treatment; and the Padre varsity coasted to a 27-6 win over the inept Live Oak heavyweights.

With George Pollock enjoying one of his finest running days, the Carmel varsity got off to a flying start against the Acorns, recovering a fumble on the first play from scrimmage and moving for a touchdown in six plays. A Holman-to-Oleson pass got the final six yards for the touchdown and Rick Baldwin split the uprights to put the Padres in front, 7 to 0. Carmel made it 14-0 early in the second period as quarterback Holman put on a fine aerial display to demoralize the Acorn defense. End Pat Olmsted pulled in the touchdown pass which gave Carmel a 13-0 bulge. Baldwin's kick was good for the conversion and the Padres had put the game out of reach. Carmel got touchdown number three on Baldwin's 30-yard sprint and put some icing on the cake when Steve Fairchild took a Baldwin pass and galloped 48 yards to pay dirt.

Live Oak got on the board in the third quarter when a series of keeper plays kept a 57-yard march going and halfback Vic Miguel went the final 18 yards for the score.

Carmel's junior-varsity rolled along on its way to another undefeated season by toying with the hapless Live Oak jayvee squad. The quick-hitting Carmel gang put the game out of reach in the first quarter as Phil Zobel and Gary Mumford teamed up for three touchdowns. Zobel got his on a fumble recovery in the end zone and Mumford ran for a 45-yarder and a 30-yarder. Chris Marvin padded the Padre score by running back an intercepted pass for another six-pointer. Coach Rainer kept a tight rein on the horses in the second-half, giving the reserves most of the playing time in preparation for next season. However, the Little Padres hit the scoreboard once in the final period when Tom Faia broke through the middle on a trap play and ran 8 yards for a score.

Carmel's junior-varsity reserves took one half to solve the Live Oak swinging-gate offense and proceeded to take complete charge of the game in the second-half as they scored four touchdowns. John Jones, a slender freshman, tallied three times for Carmel and was instrumental in the other scores as his crisp blocking paved the way for a pair of touchdowns by halfback John Tolan.

This Friday night, the Carmel teams wind up the 1961 season against arch-rival Pacific Grove.

CLEAT MARKS

Monterey High School's football teams must be setting some kind of Northern California record with their undefeated skein of 26 games so far during the current season. The four teams, varsity, junior-varsity, lightweights, and lightweight reserves, are all undefeated ed and are likely to stay that way unless the Watsonville Wildcats can pull an upset this Friday night. Only blemish on the record is a junior-varsity tie with the Holy Cross varsity. All the Toreador teams are explosive clubs with exceptional speed which tends to free the backs for the exciting long-gainer. In Jim Collette, Haywood White, Charlie Haraway, and quarterback Tom Trovato, the Monterey varsity has a backfield which has to be as good as any in Northern California. This quartet has blazing speed, power to burn, and has the passing potential to keep any defense honest. This Friday's joust with Watsonville should be one of the top high school games in Northern California and the winner of this one will certainly move up in the prep ratings. . . . Playing most of the tiff by radar in the thick fog at the Watsonville High Stadium last Saturday night, Coach George Porter's Monterey Peninsula College eleven thumped Larry Seimering's Cabrillo Seahawks, 52 to 25, to keep pace with Hartnell in

The Gold Rush inspired California's selection of a state motto

GOLDEN MOMENTS

In California history—the Greek word Eureka ("I have found it") was a natural choice for our state motto. Eureka symbolizes the miracle of prosperity—a California tradition since the Gold Rush.

In California life—today beer also stands for prosperity. In 1960, many of our California schools and highways were partially supported with taxes paid by brewers—one more reason why beer means better living for all in the "Golden State."

Students Protest Cost Of High School Gym Suits To Board

School board members heard a protest direct from students at Carmel High School last night that gym suit requirements are too stringent, the suits themselves are too expensive, and that thefts of the suits from too-easily accessible locker-room baskets are working a hardship on families who have to repurchase the suits.

In what one trustee thought was an "unprecedented occasion in recent memory anyway," of students taking such an issue directly to the school board, Page van Loben Sels, president of the student body, and another senior student, John Iott, addressed the board from the audience.

Although he said he was not representing student body or student council officially, van Loben Sels said he believed that "all the boys at Carmel High feel this way."

According to Iott and van Loben Sels, several students have received "F's" and others threats of a failing mark in physical education for not complying with an administration-originated rule that suits must be "of a certain kind" and that the rule was only in effect "since last Thursday." Also, Iott said, the local sports store which carries the suits ran out of them, although another shipment has recently been received.

Iott said he knows of one parent "who has spent $20 since the beginning of the term replacing stolen suits." He said senior boys would especially lose on buying the suits because they couldn't use them for anything except athletic suits which they'll need only this year. Van Loben Sels added that the students wouldn't mind purchasing or bringing from home ordinary athletic clothing, but they didn't feel the special type was necessary.

Trustees listened attentively to the issue as presented by the youths, then asked Superintendent

Stuart Mitchell for a report on the problem.

Trustee Dr. Richard Snyder, who questioned the student speakers on various aspects of their talks, said the issue had several sides: "the problem of whether any public school in a system of free education should require any particular uniform for sports participation," the responsibility of the school for providing protection for personal property of students, the wisdom of allowing students a voice in their own affairs which he believed "contributes to maturity both in school and afterward," and the need for facilitating and clarifying channels through which students can appeal direct to school governing bodies such as the board.

William Wakefield, recreation and physical education director at the high school, said he too was sorry the uniforms cost so much, but that "we are satisfied as long as they wear grey shirts, and red pants." He felt the uniforms might be purchased at various places at different prices, and that a plan to stencil each boy's name on his suit will cut down on "borrowing" of suits. He said the boys had actually been informed two weeks ago that the suits would be needed. He said when the youngsters were allowed to wear their own choice of athletic suits, "about 25 per cent came in cut-off Levis and we don't consider that proper athletic attire."

To this one of the sizeable group of boys in the audience replied, "We could dye the Levis red."

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

The Carmel Music Society presented the first event of its thirty-fourth season last evening to a filled house at Sunset Auditorium. A World of Dancing consisted of Carola Goya and Matteo, a team of character dancers who earned reputations singly before joining forces with a program of dances and costumes from many lands. These included traditional and period dances, and comedy as in the Schottische of 1890, and a dance with masks. Explanatory remarks were also given by each dancer.

The Society has brought more inspired dancers, but there were some moments of rare and exotic entertainment that brought forth plenty of applause, particularly in the Castanuelas with Falla and Albeniz music. This dance showed the possibilities of castanets in musical interpretation with the artists together in a unique duo of sound and action. A medley of Scottish dances was an individual fantasy by Matteo rather than strictly traditional. While omitting some of the most difficult sword-dance steps, it had the grace of which the kilt is capable though displaying less speed and vigorous passion than a Scotsman can give such dancing. Gypsy dances of Granada brought a finale by both artists that recalled them for an extra duo. Raymond Sachse, pianist and music director, who also controlled the records containing various instruments and voices, played a solo with boisterous aplomb and a melodic encore in better modulation.

The Orchestra San Pietro of Naples will be the Society's second event on November 17.

COMMUNITY HOSPITAL FUND DRIVE TOPS $100,000

Monterey Peninsula's new Community Hospital's $580,000 building completion fund drive has topped the $100,000 mark. New Hospital Fund Committee Chairman Samuel F. B. Morse announced today.

Since the completion fund drive started June 1, 1961, $100,916 has been pledged, Mr. Morse said.

This brings the total amount of cash received or pledged for the $2.5 million hospital being built on Carmel Hill to $1,620,421. Of this total, $1,256,711 in cash has been collected and an additional $363,710 pledged since the first drive started several years ago.

U. S. MONEY FOR SCHOOLS

The United States Treasury will pay Monterey County $1,950 to spend on roads and schools. The money represents 25 percent of gross revenues received from National Forest land in the county for the year ending June 30, 1961. The funds are proportioned according to National Forest acreage in each California county.

Monday the County Board of Education divided the U.S. Forest Reserve funds among seven school districts in Monterey County that have varying amounts of Los Padres National Forest lands within their boundaries.

$5,000 a year or less, for example pays 300 times as much for a business license as one grossing over $500,000 per year.

Mr. Rose's report observes that a straight one mill tax would have produced $19,271 in revenue for the city in 1960-61, or $3,000 more than the present graduated scale.

He later observed that two businesses of exactly the same type, one having a gross yearly income of $798,903 pays $278 for a business license, while the second with a gross of $43,386 pays $294 for a business license.

Shortly before the council received Mr. Rose's report, the Carmel Business Association asked the council, in a letter, to double business tax license fees for the next five years and to earmark the added amount for the sole purpose of acquiring parking lots. Further that the city match these funds. This city money also to be used solely for the acquisition of parking lots, either by direct purchase, lease-purchase or lease.

Mrs. McCloud, president of the Business Association, stated, "It is now up to the council. This is the most equitable way to finance parking, we think." She added that three out of every four merchants favored the double business license plan to finance off-street parking in ballots returned from the association's poll on the matter.

Mayor Frank Putnam suggested any discussion of the Business Association's parking proposal be postponed until after the city clerk has completed financial studies and projections on what types of business licenses will be affected by the double license plan.

Councilman Eben Whittlesey remarked that a general revision of equalization of business license fees seemed to be a matter to be thought of, then moved that the city clerk study what business license fee revisions now are possible, also provide a projection of revenue sources for obtaining funds for the Business Association proposal, then report his findings to the council.

Willard Neumann, present in the audience, informed the council he had property available on a lease basis for parking suggested in the Business Association Proposal.

He was asked by the Mayor to make such a proposal formally, in writing, so that it might be considered by the council.

Pedestrian Campus Projected To MPC Board By Owings

Architect Nathaniel Owings, giving a progress report on the proposed master plan for Monterey Peninsula College to the College District Board last night, painted a glowing word picture of what the campus of the future will be like at MPC.

Among features of what MPC President Frederick R. Huber called "a whole new concept in campuses," is the confining of access roads and parking to the outside of the campus, leaving a strictly pedestrian inner area, and the maintenance of a small, compact total campus area with library and student centers at the core, classrooms and laboratories arranged around them.

The present campus, trustees learned, is peculiarly suited to the new plan, which can be effected with no disturbance of the present oaks, ravines and splendid vistas.

District trustees instructed Owings to prepare a mock-up model of the proposed campus, and to continue in the direction his firm, Skidmore, Owings and Merrill, is going on the college master plan.

In addition it appointed a citizens' committee, names to be released later, to review the master plan, charging the committee to go over the plan with the faculty and board and to advise the board on the type of election which should be held to finance the plan (i.e. an over-ride tax on bond election), to advise when the election should be held (this coming spring, or earlier), and whether funds should be requested for the campus alone or for the campus with the master plan.

Among other action at last night's meeting the college board: Passed a resolution designating as delegates to the California School Boards Association meeting in San Francisco December 6-9, Trustees Mark Raggett, of Carmel, Dr. Stanley Winters, of Pacific Grove and Brooks Lockhart of Monterey.

By-Laws Need Change Dear Tells Youth Center Adult Board

Members of the Youth Center Adult Board, yesterday afternoon, asked the youth board to make a count of young people who attend various functions at the Youth Center, proposed revisions to by-laws and looked at plans of trailers to be purchased for food-selling concessions manned by center members at Del Monte Properties' events. They also considered a set of rules for the young people who raise funds for the center by means of the concessions.

High School P-TA president Larry Rose, a member of the board, asked the youth board to take a sampling of attendance at different activities at the center, also any average day or night's attendance. This will enable the budget committee to ascertain cost per member of operating the center, he stated.

The list of rules for center members who wish to work at the Del Monte food concessions will be approved by High School Principal Warren Edwards, final action taken by the adult board next month, Mr. Rose moved.

sentative on the board, proposed revisions to the by-laws. He suggested the adult board president, James Buffington, appoint permanent finance, fund-raising and public relations committees. Mr. Dear also suggested that the terms of service of adult board officers and members be defined. The statement that the P-TA appoint a member to the board should be changed to High School P-TA, he added. He objected to the present by-law which permits the director of athletics at the High School to appoint two members to the adult board, in addition to the director also being a member of the board. Instead, Mr. Dear suggested, the high school principal should appoint a member of the faculty to the board.

Wayfarer Preacher Sunday First Member To Enter Ministry

Victor I. Matson Jr., the first member of the Church of the Wayfarer to go into the ministry since the local church was established in 1904, will preach for the first time in his home church Sunday.

A senior at the Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley, Mr. Matson was ordained a deacon last month in services at Trinity Methodist Church in Berkeley with Dr. K. Fillmore Gray taking part in the rites.

College student members of the church and other young people are especially invited to the Sunday services, which begin at 9:30 and 11:00 o'clock in the morning. Afterward the C-Bees group of the church will honor the young theological student with a reception in the Garden Room. Everyone is invited.

VACATION IN HAWAII

Mission San Antonio Shows Serra's 1771 Register On Sunday

Rare documents will be shown visitors to San Antonio Mission at Jolon on Sunday, including the Mission register started in long-hand by Padre Junipero Serra on the day of the Mission's founding, July 14, 1771.

The native Mutsun Indian language dictionary compiled by Padre Buenaventura Sitjar, present at the founding of the Mission and director of its activities for 28 years, will also be on display.

Mission San Antonio, third in the California Mission chain, was founded by Franciscan friars. Present members of this order at the Mission on Sunday will answer questions, explain the early economic, domestic, social, political and religious history of the California Missions founded by Father Serra.

Visitors will also be taken on tours of the original rooms at Mission San Antonio and allowed to examine artifacts that have been part of the life of the Mission for almost 200 years.

Restored to its original condition by members of the Franciscan order, Mission San Antonio is one of California's major historical monuments.

Beaches And Parks Planner Audubon Speaker Tomorrow

The Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society will hold its regular monthly meeting tomorrow evening in the music room of Carmel High School. Harry Dean, Supervisor of the Regional Office of Planning and Development of the Division of Beaches and Parks, will talk about the work involved in the administration of his office as applied to this area.

Three field trips have been scheduled by the Society. On Sunday a group will meet at the junction of Highway 1 and Carmel Valley Road at 9:00 o'clock in the morning, then proceed to the home of Mrs. D. E. Rosenquist on Ford Road above Carmel Valley Village. After study of the birds in that area, observations will then be made along the upper Carmel Valley Road as far as the turn-off to Jamesburg. An optional return route has been planned via the Cachagua Creek Road and the Cachagua grade. On November 25 Sunset Beach State Park and vicinity will be explored after meeting at the lower picnic area of the Park at 9:30 o'clock in the morning. The annual visit to the Los Banos Wildlife Management area will be on December 3. The group will assemble in the morning at Tiny's restaurant, Los Banos, and will leave there promptly at 10:00 o'clock to observe birds in the Wildlife area.

The Bird-a-Month group of the Society will meet on Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. Mark Brislawn and Miss Florence Waller at the northwest corner of Camino Real and Sixteenth Street, at 10:00 o'clock. Each member is asked to bring a report on the topic, My Favorite Duck.

All persons interested in the activities of the Audubon Society are invited to attend its meetings and field trips.

Scenic Highway System State Planners To Meet In Carmel Wednesday

Division of Resources Planning,
Department of Water Resources.

Appointed to help them plan a system of scenic highways for the state are the following members of the Scenic Highways Citizen's Committee who will be here next week: George Hjelte, general manager, department of recreation and parks of the City of Los Angeles; Proctor Melquist, editor of Sunset Magazine; Lawrence Livingston Jr., San Francisco planning consultant; Robert Grunwald, landscape architect consultant from Hanford; Dee W. McKenzie, chief, design section, highway and bridge division, for the County of Sacramento's department of public works; Charles P. Walker, president of the League of California Cities; and Harry Schmidt, president of the County Supervisors' Association of the State of California.

Senator Farr also has invited the following organizations to send representatives to Carmel for the scenic highway meeting: California Council of the American Institute of Architects; Federation of Women's Clubs of California; Garden Clubs of California; California Roadside Council; State Chamber of Commerce; California State Automobile Association; Scenic Roads Association; Sierra Club; American Institute of Planners; and the American Institute of Landscape Architects.

Senator Farr, concerned with future development of the coastal section of Highway One in Monterey County, first brought to the attention of Governor Edmund G. Brown the necessity for special planning for this road and proposed that below Carmel for 80 miles it be made a scenic highway. As a result of this action the County of Monterey retained the firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill to prepare a master plan for the proper development of the Coast Road; secondly, Governor Brown appointed an inter-departmental group to report to him on the issues raised by Senator Farr.

In January, 1960, the inter-departmental group recommended to Governor Brown a collaborative study with Monterey County and a more comprehensive investigation of possibilities of scenic highway development throughout California.

In April of the same year Senator Farr introduced to the Senate a resolution which was adopted and brought about establishment of the Inter-Departmental Committee on Scenic Highways.

This committee was authorized by the Senate resolution to study possible scenic highway development for California in collaboration with Monterey County and its consultants.

In February of this year the inter-departmental committee, from experience gained studying the prototype scenic highway plan prepared for Monterey County by the planning firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill, reported that scenic highways should be established throughout California as integral portions of the present and proposed State Highway System, these scenic highways to be coordinated with Federal and local plans for land use and development.

Special attention should be given to local use of scenic easements and establishment of scenic reserves, the report added, and concluded with the recommendation that a citizen's advisory committee be appointed to help the inter-departmental group with further study for creating a California scenic highway system.

On April 4 of this year, Senator Farr introduced to the Senate a resolution, subsequently adopted, which stated that there was a need for scenic highways in the state; the inter-departmental committee should be authorized to continue their collaborative investigation and make recommendations for a statewide system of scenic highways; counties and cities should be asked to cooperate with the committee in the scenic highway studies; a Citizen's Advisory Committee on Scenic Highways be established.

Last Thursday, the Speaker pro tem of the Senate, after consulting with the Speaker of the Assembly, informed Senator Farr that members of the advisory committee had been appointed as named above.

This group will meet for the first time with the inter-departmental committee in Carmel on Wednesday.

the Coast Junior College pennant chase. While Monterey was rubbing the Seahawks, Coach Arvin Smith's Hartnell crew was eliminating San Jose City College from any title hopes. If MPC can get over Menlo tomorrow afternoon and Hartnell can dispose of Foot-hill Saturday night, the stage will be set for the November 18 clash between the Lobos and Panthers at the MPC Stadium. ... One of the best passers on the Monterey Peninsula isn't playing for a high school or college team but is guiding the offense of the 7th grade at the Carmel Mission. A diminutive 85-pounder with the agility of a pro quarterback, Ronnie Parsons has been throwing touchdown strikes for Coach Jack Giles' seventh-graders in the Monterey Recreation League. A southpaw pitcher in the Carmel Little League, Parsons appears to be a miniature Frankie Albert with a penchant for the rollout run and the running pass. Keep your eye on this sprout — he'll throw plenty of touchdown passes before his playing days are over. ... All-League selection time is about here and what coach wouldn't like to have a CCAL B-division backfield of quarterback Dan Holman, fullback Jim Mankins (King City), and halfbacks George Pollock and Fred McGaughey (Pacific Grove). Carmel High's big 200-pound tackle, Pete Morse and Jim Kelley, are certain to receive plenty attention from the selectors on the strength of their come-through performances for the Padres. If the league goes for the selection of a defensive team little Teddy Leidig, Carmel's sure-tackling back, should be a shoo-in for one of the deep spots. The diminutive halfback matched his 145-pounds against the 215 of King City's Jim Mankins and the outcome was just about a draw.

Edgar Ansel Mowrer Tells World Affairs Council That United States Faces Choice Of Four Policies

By C. A. DE CAMP

Edgar Ansel Mowrer, news columnist and authority on international affairs, told members of the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula recently that the United States is faced with a choice of four policies: surrender; a war of prevention; continuation of the past 16 years' passivity and accelerated Russian aggression; or recognition of the cold war and acceptance of it as something that must be won with strategy devised by this country.

Our will to win is, from now on, the deciding factor in survival of the United States, he emphasized.

Mr. Mowrer, speaking to an overflow audience at Carmel High School, remarked that it is now being said that President Roosevelt proved that one could be President as long as he wished; that President Truman proved that anyone could be President; that President Eisenhower proved that we did not need a President, and thus far, President John F. Kennedy has not proved anything.

"I am not a Democrat nor a Republican. It is not my intention to lay all of the blame for our international situation on any one or all of the Presidents just mentioned, or upon either of the political parties concerned," Mr. Mowrer stated.

"Rather does the blame attach to the people at large, for in general these Presidents, whose combined actions, or inactions have led to the inevitable enemy domination of the initiative, have quite accurately reflected the mood and desire of all of us who wish to keep out of the struggle, to fatuously assume that our luck would hold, that prosperity and security were our main concerns, and that as in the past, all would turn out right in the end."

This meant, Mr. Mowrer indicated, that the people of the United States and all four Presidents mentioned above have not exerted themselves to understand the basic tenets of Communism, seemingly so obvious.

Otherwise the people and Presidents would have realized that without the Communists' fundamental determination to control and enslave, not a part, but all of the world, Communism would lose its dynamism, its inexorable drive to conquer; that with such loss, it would wither and die in the light of comparison with other systems; that Red imperialism would come to an end; that to these ends, communism may not allow peace in the world, must ever keep it at war.

"The world is now involved in a power struggle of an entirely new type. The means are no longer military and economic alone. They include all forms of human activity and thought. The stake is not personal or national power. It is the power to determine the fate

"Yet, all in all, while the task of vanquishing Communism is formidable, it can still be done. The free nations have the means. What they principally need is greater unity, determination and political imagination. Led by a determined and alerted United States, Communist expansion can still be halted with much less risk of all-out war than a continuation of our policy lack," he added.

"Communism is not just a group of countries, one of them equipped with H-bombs and superior rockets. Essentially, it is an international power conspiracy whose members are fanatically devoted to destroying the traditional pattern of civilization everywhere, and by replacing it by a totalitarian organization of society that turns men into ants," Mr. Mowrer stated.

"Between Soviet society and ours, no lasting compromise is possible, nor will Communists desist from their overriding purpose until compelled to do so," he concluded.

Barnet J. Segal, secretary of Carmel Savings and Loan Association, has been appointed to the resolutions committee of the California Savings and Loan League. Neill Davis, executive vice-president of the state-wide trade organization, announced today from League headquarters in Pasadena.

Carmelites Invited To Help Organize Mayflower Society

Plans for organizing a Monterey County chapter of the Society of Mayflower Descendants are underway, it was announced this week. An organizational meeting has been set for Saturday to celebrate the 31st anniversary of the signing of the Mayflower Compact.

Carmelites eligible for membership, some of whom may already belong to chapters in the East, are invited to attend the luncheon session at the Mark Thomas Inn at noon. Miss Florence Baker, 238 East Romie Lane, Salinas, is handling the arrangements.

Verle D. Vincent of Walnut Creek, governor of the California Society of Mayflower Descendants, and other officers of the society will be present at the inaugural meeting.

Prospective members are those Americans who are descended from passengers arriving on the Mayflower in 1620.

DOOLEY BENEFIT PLANNED

A carnival to benefit the Monterey chapter of the Dr. Tom Dooley Foundation has been set for the evening of November 17, at 8:00 o'clock in Carmel Valley Inn.

One of the main events of the program, which is to last until 2:00 o'clock Saturday morning, will be an auction of more than 100 wrapped gifts. The items have been donated by Peninsula stores, and auctioneer's services donated by Bill Ponder of B and J Mart, New Monterey.

Other features are to include 20 door prizes, also donated, and a "tin can band," performers to be enlisted from members of the audience who bring along their musical instruments.

Proceeds will help pay for the mobile health unit to be sent to Tibetan refugees in India. Tickets for the carnival are available at the Inn and from other centrally located places, including the Peninsula Chamber of Commerce, Monterey.

Nat Owings Decided At Jamboree In Europe To Become An Architect

Opposition to the plan "has come mostly from outsiders and not from either the older or newer property owners along the coast," Owings said.

"But nothing very far sighted and long-range can be expected to get by without opposition. Steel goes through the crucible of a furnace and precious stones have to be tumbled to be polished. Abrasion and resistance are the best possible exercise for a good thing.

"There is an extraordinarily encouraging hard core of support for our plan. I believe that's because it's so obviously geared to our future and not to the penny-ante thinking of the moment.

"This is not a supermarket plan. It is a design for the people who want to stay here and live. Among our supporters are people who have been in the area for three generations. Leaders of the opposition are mostly non-residents interested in the hit-run techniques of the building of tract houses."

To those of his detractors who challenge Owings with binding them to a plan which may be all right now but need changes later, he explains, "But a master plan is only a flexible, long-term framework subject to infinite variation. The best example I can cite of a good master plan is the Constitution of the United States. It's been amended 22 times but the plan hasn't changed.

"The set of principles doesn't change, but the application of the principles can."

Owings himself, a lively, youthful-looking man with a wry smile which he turns on whenever the occasion calls for it, moved to the Big Sur area about five years ago, upon completion of his now-famous A-frame dwelling which clings unobtrusively to a rugged escarpment at Grimes Point, to the west of the highway about ten miles below Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park.

The house took one and a half years to build and has features such as a deck cantilevered from the cliffside 300 feet above a beach inhabited by sea lions. When swirls of fog obscure sweeping views of the coast both north and south from the floor-to-ceiling windows, the Owings' house seems airborne. Cries of sea lions below are the only indication that it is firmly established as part of the precipitous cliff by ingeniously engineered concrete footings, massive but hidden by natural growth.

Born in Indianapolis, Indiana on February 5, 1903, Nat Owings spent much of his boyhood with relatives in the bucolic atmosphere of Rushville, Indiana. His father had died when Nat was still very young, and Nat put himself through college, first attending the University of Illinois and then Cornell.

He got the idea of becoming an architect, he says, while on a European trip he won as an Eagle Scout delegate to the first Scout Jamboree after World War I.

"After I had been exposed to these rich evidences of our cultural past in Europe," he said, "devoting myself to architecture seemed absolutely the only thing to do."

As a graduate of Cornell Nat went to work in New York City, and then life took a fortuitous turn for the young architect when his sister on a European trip met and married Rhodes scholar Louis Skidmore, also an architect.

The brothers-in-law set off to work together, "but there was a depression," Nat recalls, "and the only thing going was the World's Fair in Chicago. So we went there."

"It was a happy combination of circumstances for us. Instead of having to use marble and brick and the traditional materials of the past, we could use plywood and gypsum board. That is, we could do things with less permanent materials, leaving room for more experimentation than we would have been allowed if we had been working on permanent buildings.

"Also, we met the leading industrialists of the day since we had been assigned to design exhibits for them. After the fair we founded our partnership in Chicago."

"However, almost immediately we got a New York client who wanted a man on the job back east, so Skidmore went to New York and never came back. He opened our office there instead."

Skidmore, Owings and Merrill, which now has offices in San Francisco and Portland as well as the original offices and has done planning and designing all over the world including Okinawa, Morocco and Australia, consistently employs the young. Here is why, according to Owings:

"All young men in architecture want to be architects and not draftsmen working for someone else. They are sensitive and creative when they come out of school but all they can do are houses for their mothers-in-law because no one ever heard of them.

"We decided to set up a type of organization very much like the ateliers of the Florentine period in art. Remember how one painter worked on feet, another on hands? No one to this day can tell exactly which work was done by the master Michelangelo and which by his students. We too work so intimately in our organization that we don't know who does the work. And we have developed procedures into a system of specialization. We have regional planners, site planners, city planners, building planners. We are self-containing.

"One of our most fascinating jobs was building Oak Ridge, Tennessee. It was top secret. We had to rely on ourselves. And we did everything from scratch, providing for the butcher, the baker, the candle-maker—everything.

"In doing this, we found out many things about life. We discovered, for instance, that a woman absolutely must have two stores. She must have a place to go to shop when she gets mad at the first place. We found, too, that it takes six people to put one man to work. One man working in a plant needs a staff of six to keep him clothed, fed, housed and provided for."

Among other Skidmore, Owings and Merrill projects have been the Lever House on Park Avenue, New York, the first skyscraper with planned open space and sealed windows, the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, the Navy School in Monterey, the Del Monte Shopping Center, the John Hancock Building and Crown-Zellerbach buildings in San Francisco, the Chase-Manhattan Bank in New York.

"The modern businessman who sees the need for and finances a new building is a modern de Medici," Owings said. "A building is a chance for the expression of the creative arts. We need fountains and sculpture and paintings. In this, too, we are not so much interested in buying things by famous names as by providing a testing ground for the young."

Owings, a single-minded man dedicated to his profession, shares his ideas as readily as other people share their cigarettes. About architecture in general, he had this to add:

"With the development of reinforced concrete we can do many things with building that we couldn't have done in the past. But we have reached a point where technology has overpowered our sensitivity.

"We must now go to the past and refresh our memories. With all our money and imagination we have never approached the great things of Europe. We don't know how to use our money. It is frittered away on God knows what. Our common enemy is the destruction of our culture by the auto. We must get back to the use of water, planting and open space in building. Buildings should be used to frame space, not fragment it. Gone are the days when buildings were made with good brick in front and common brick on the sides because it seemed certain someone would build adjacent with no space between.

"Fortunately the new school is going toward the romantic. We are slightly balding, aging people and our job is to keep up with the young. Trends in architecture are generally toward more plastic, better use of shadow, more use of glass and trees, water and fountains."

Owings is serious about what he says, particularly about youth. Of the 15 partners in his firm, five are under 30, he says, and eight under 40 years old. A large majority of the staff of some 1,000 technicians also fall into the classification of youthfulness.

Youth, and beauty, Owings thinks, should be precious to us all. In the foreword of the Coast Master Plan, Owings describes his beloved coast in terms of the latter.

"Seventy-two miles of broken shoreline. Deer, browsing on the slopes above, sea lions, diving in the waves below and the red-tailed hawk riding the up-drafts of the tradewinds. Deep shadowed redwood canyons tumbling down through the folds of the Santa Lucia range, the nation's termination."

This is what Nathaniel Owings says we must keep.

Breath Of Spring, Sprightly Play At Circle Theatre, Takes Sold Out Houses To World Of Laughter

A few seconds of total darkness preceding each three acts of Breath of Spring, the Peter Coke drawing room comedy that opened last weekend at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre, serve to transport the audience from a law abiding-or-else world to a delightful sphere where it is reasonable to rob, providing one is well-bred, steals for a good cause, and the exciting opportunity to be dishonest comes about through an unsought circumstance.

Ennui is the problem of Dame Beatrice Appleby whose many personal philanthropies keep her purse empty. To help replenish the contents of her pocketbook, she has taken three lodgers into her flat near London's Albert Memorial. They also are bored and like their landlady, middle-aged. They are kept from interfering in Dame Beatrice's life, as much as is possible, by a charming Cockney servant girl, given a new chance in life by Dame Beatrice after serving a term in Holloway Prison for fur thefts. Added to these characters is a visitor, Alice, Lady Miller, tired of moving from hotel to hotel and seeking a permanent home with a husband. This gentleman, she decides, shall be Brigadier Albert Rayne, C.B., C.M.G., M.V.O., one of Dame Beatrice's lodgers who finds retirement gives him no opportunity for planning strategic military maneuvers.

That Dame Beatrice also is setting her preposterous hats for the Brigadier adds to the comedy of the play in a most amusing manner.

In addition to the Brigadier, Dame Beatrice's other lodgers are a sure-striding Girl Guide type voice teacher, Miss Nanette Parry, and a sweetly simple mender of broken china, Miss Elizabeth Hatfield.

The pettiness of their existence gets "a breath of spring" when the servant girl Lily Thompson, played by Myrtlerose Craig, decides to repay Dame Beatrice for her kindness with a most expensive mink cape, obtained by means Lily knows only too well, judging from her prison sentence.

Shocked beyond belief by the presentation of this gift, Dame Beatrice, played by Babs Richardson, Edgar Pye in the role of the Brigadier, Peg Miner as Miss Parry, Gertrude Chappell as Lady Miller, and Mildred Cushing as Miss Hatfield, decide the fur must be returned to the wealthy stockbroker's flat across the hall where it had tempted Lily beyond her strength.

The Brigadier plans the strategy. In the fine tradition of the British army he trains and assigns his troops for the maneuver. It is overwhelmingly successful. After the group recovers from the frightening adventure, they discover life can be thrilling; and want to keep it that way.

Ennui has flown both for actors and audience and it remains in flight during the next two acts, even though Scotland Yard detectives, played by James Alcorn as Pape and Steve Hansen as Kemp, threaten to bring back boredom, behind prison bars this time, after a possible horrifying Old Bailey court appearance.

How all this precarious flaunting of the law comes about may be experienced every Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at the Circle until December 15. Included in the show is the biggest display of fine furs since the Symphony Guild Plaza party.

That the cast is talented and experienced is shown by the fact that while each gives a splendid performance, none surpasses the others.

Frederick Rider directs the play. The cast "carries on" in a sprightly manner, each keeping their particular characterization intact through three acts and the unexpected denouement of the hilariously zany plot. Except is it? Who knows after the lights come on?

Nick Zanides, production manager, is to be credited with another success. Margaret Phillips, stage manager, her assistant, George Phillips, and Beverley Macauley, properties, have contrived a circle-in-the-round setting that brings the audience right into Dame Beatrice's unpredictable English drawingroom. Steve Hansen is in charge of lights and sound. R. Rolleston West, scene construction, is responsible for an effective fireplace and balcony.

Don't delay if you want to see Breath of Spring. It played to sold out houses last weekend.—M.L.

Planning For Space Theme Of Peninsula Conference Saturday

Planning for Space will be the theme of a conference Saturday sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Area Planning Commission and the citizen's core committee of the same group. Sessions in the Officers' Club at Monterey Presidio start at 9:30 o'clock in the morning and continue until 3:00.

William H. Whyte, author and conservationist, will be the principal speaker at the morning meeting on the importance of open space and greenbelts to the Monterey Peninsula. Other speakers will be Dee Eberhart, economist, Simon Eisner and Gordon Hall, planning consultants, and Allen Griffin, editor and publisher.

Senator Fred Farr (D-Carmel) will address conference participants during luncheon at noon in the ballroom. At 1:10 o'clock an hour's round table work session will begin. Following this recorders will report on round table findings. Larry Rose, Carmel city clerk, will sum up these findings. Opening and closing remarks will be made by Keith Evans of Carmel, chairman of the area planning commission.

Invitations to participate in the conference were sent out to Peninsula residents last week. Area planning research maps will be on display during the conference and will illustrate the first half of an area-wide study of the present growth and future development of the Monterey Peninsula.

FREE CHEST X-RAYS

The mobile X-ray unit of the Monterey County Health Department will be parked near the post office in Carmel on Monday afternoon from 1:00 o'clock to 5:00 o'clock. All persons desiring free chest X-rays may obtain them during these hours. Results of the X-rays will be sent later on postcards mailed from the health department offices in Salinas.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The indestructible relationship of God and man will be explained at Christian Science services Sunday in a Lesson-Sermon on the subject Mortals and Immortals.

These words of Paul will be included in the readings from the Bible: "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together" (Rom. 8).

A correlative citation from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy states: "It is only by acknowledging the supremacy of Spirit, which annuls the claims of matter, that mortals can lay off mortality and find the indissoluble spiritual link which establishes man forever in the divine likeness, inseparable from his creator" (p. 491).

Kerchevals At Presidio

Long-time friends of Mrs. Benjamin B. Kercheval, the former Doris Evans, are delighted at her recent return to the Monterey Peninsula with her husband, Colonel Kercheval, who is studying Polish at the U.S. Army Language School at the Presidio of Monterey.

Mrs. Kercheval, daughter of Mrs. Samuel J. (Emma) Fisher, formerly of Carmel and now of Santa Barbara, is also enrolled in the Polish Department and plans to study French also while the Kerchevals' two sons attend Monterey schools. The family is living on the post at the Presidio.

Among social events for the returning family was a dinner last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Scheffler of Carmel for old friends of the Kerchevals living here and Army friends stationed in the area. The guest list included Mrs. Fisher, who had been visiting here for several days, and her husband, Colonel Fisher (U. S. A. ret.) of Santa Barbara.

Scouters At Las Vegas

Elwood J. Wilson and R. D. Sproull, both of Carmel, are among a delegation of Boy Scout leaders representing the Monterey Bay Area Council at the annual meeting of Region 12 this week in Las Vegas.

Sessions opened today for some 1,500 key Scout personnel from California, Utah, Arizona, Nevada, Hawaii and southwestern Wyoming, and will extend through the weekend.

Mr. Wilson is Peninsula district chairman and Mr. Sproull scoutmaster of Troop 2.

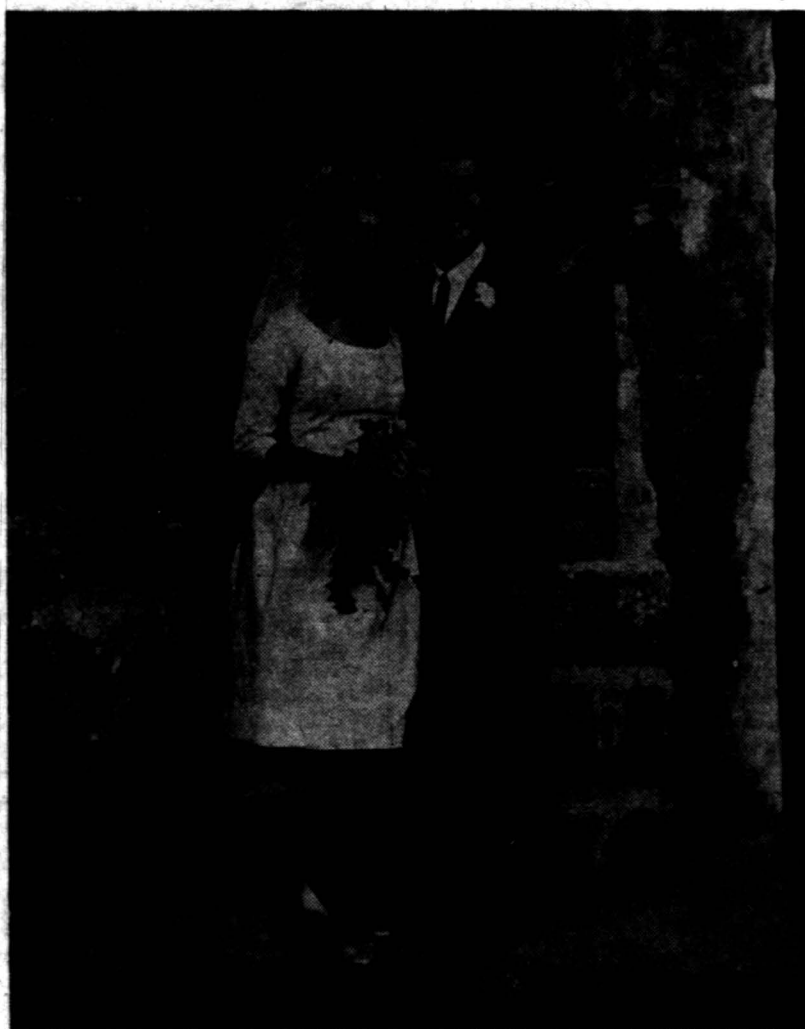

One of the highlights of the three-day program in the new six-million-dollar Las Vegas convention center was to be an address by Governor Grant Sawyer of Nevada. Chairman of the meeting is Nevada's Lieutenant Governor Rex Bell, who is also vice chairman of Region 12.

Fog drifted away and the sun broke through the overcast as bridal party and wedding guests entered historic Carmel Mission chapel for the afternoon ceremony which united Elinore Elizabeth MacDonald and Michael Thomas Gaspers on Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

Clad in a white peau de sole gown with a bell skirt, scoop neckline and three-quarter sleeves, Elinore walked to the altar to the strains of Gounod's wedding music. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. MacDonald of Carmel was given in marriage by her father, and attended by Miss Marilyn Alice Reid of Carmel.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Gaspers of Seattle, Washington, had asked his brother Peter A. Gaspers Jr., of San Francisco, to serve as best man. The Reverend Roger J. Dieudonne officiated.

Two baskets of white chrysanthemums flanked the altar and another two were arranged in the chancel. The bride carried a showy bouquet of cymbidium orchids and wore a fingertip veil with flowered crown. A tailored bow accented the back of her dress.

Her maid of honor wore a beige chiffon dress with a matching satin sash and veiled hat, and her bouquet was of orchids surrounded by white carnations.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. MacDonald chose a lavender knit costume with rhinestone buttons, pink accessories and an orchid corsage. The mother of the bridegroom was dressed in a turquoise satin sheath with black accessories and orchid corsage.

A champagne reception for more than 100 guests immediately followed the wedding. Center of attention at the event at the Highlands Inn was the three-tiered wedding cake decorated with gardenias and placed on a decorated canopy table.

GREY LADIES NEED COOKIES

Carmel Red Cross Chapter Grey Ladies are in charge of providing cookies and flowers for patients in Fort Ord Hospital during November. Their quota is 60 dozen homemade cookies each week.

Mrs. Donald B. Walker of Carmel, chairman of the Fort Ord Hospital Council, comprised of Red Cross representatives from seven communities adjacent to Fort Ord, is appealing to Carmel area women for help with the cookie quota.

Donations of homemade cookies may be left at the Carmel Red Cross chapter house on Mondays, she says. The cookies will be distributed to soldiers in Fort Ord Hospital on Tuesday by Carmel area Grey Ladies.

in a pink frock with matching hat and white accessories, presided over the guest book.

Another close friend of the bride, Miss Louise de Lorimier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George de Lorimier of Salinas, went home assured by a good omen when she caught the bridal flowers tossed by Elinore as she left the reception.

The wedding setting was particularly meaningful to the newlywed Mrs. Gaspers, who attended school at Carmel Mission through the first five elementary grades.

Among out-of-town guests here for the wedding and reception were two brothers and sisters-in-law of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Brice Robert MacDonald of San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vernon MacDonald of Watsonville. Another brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donovan Philip MacDonald of Tampa, Florida, wired their good wishes to the bridal pair.

The bridal couple was at home in San Francisco this week, where Robert is a senior majoring in physics at the University of San Francisco, and his bride is employed by a San Francisco import firm.

Kathy Goodrich On Trip

Sixth-grader Kathy Goodrich was excused from her classes at Sunset School this week for a junket south with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Menzel of San Jose, who are taking Kathy on the 12th annual Death Valley Encampment. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Goodrich of Carmel.

When she returns to Sunset Monday, Kathy will report to classmates on her trip through the weird and wonderful scenery of the desert. She and her grandparents were among an expected 20,000 visitors to the four-day encampment which opened today, with special events mostly at Furnace Creek and Stovepipe Wells.

Outdoor breakfasts, evening campfires and escorted tours are all part of the program, which was started in 1949 as a centennial pageant re-enacting the story of the group of 49'ers who perished in Death Valley while heading for the coastal gold fields.

Bonnie Dickens of Carmel and Billie Fritsche of Carmel Valley are also on the slate of attendants, sponsored by the Hogans and Circle K respectively.

Lobo Magic is the theme for Homecoming at MPC this year. Today is "color day" at the school, with all students wearing maroon and white. A noon rally has been scheduled for tomorrow.

Jon Chase In Hawaii

Navy Lieutenant (jg) Jon G. Chase, son of Mrs. R. A. Fink of Carmel and a 1955 graduate of Carmel High School, is in the Pacific taking part in Naval training in and near the Hawaiian Islands, according to a release from the Navy.

His mother, who lives at Thirteenth Avenue and San Antonio Street, says she saw Jon a month ago in San Diego, when she went south to meet him before he set off to serve with Tactical Air Control Squadron 13, a unit of an amphibious task force.

This week his squadron was to take part in Operation Silver Sword, a training assault on beaches of the Island of Maui and the largest maneuver of its kind in the islands since World War II.

He hopes to return to San Diego by November 17, Mrs. Fink says, and will possibly be in Carmel for Christmas.

After graduating from Carmel High, Jon attended the University of California at Berkeley, getting his degree from there in 1958. He also attended Naval Officers' Candidate School in Rhode Island and the Navy Intelligence School in Washington, D.C.

on the east by Hatton Canyon, on the south by Carmel River but includes Rancho Rio Vista and Carmel Meadows.

This area may expect a likelihood of 30 percent radio-active fallout from bombs in the San Francisco area and no aid from outside can be expected for two weeks, the interim disaster plan points out.

Individuals and families are expected to learn warning signals, emergency action, protection from fallout, first aid and home preparedness and the use of Conelrad.

The city will take care of other matters necessary for public safety and set off a three-minute warble warning blast. The city and unincorporated areas will be divided into zones with wardens, the 18-page detailed plan for disaster, available at city hall, states.

Councilmen decided to retain the city's recreation commission last night. However, Councilman Francis Whitaker suggested some simplifications of this commission's, also arts and forest commissions', activities, personnel and finances be considered.

The Council decided not to send a letter to the California Highway Commission requesting removal of a directional sign on Highway One directing cars into the city via San Carlos Street after receiving a petition signed by 28 merchants on San Carlos. Howard Bucquet appeared and spoke for this group. He claimed the rerouting of cars off San Carlos would be a hardship to the 28 merchants. A meeting between city officials and the merchants to discuss this problem will be arranged, the council decided.

A letter was authorized by the council to be sent by the city clerk to organizations still having directional signs in the Ocean Avenue median islands. These groups will be asked to cooperate with the city and remove the signs, not allowed under new zoning regulations. The existing signs were erected prior to this zoning and are permitted under "grandfather" rights but the planning commission asked the council to eliminate them.

Puppeters of Carmel were given permission to build a puppet stage at the Forest Theater. Drive-up mailboxes may be installed at the northwest corner of Mission and Ocean and the northeast corner of Lincoln and Ocean, the council decided although Councilman Gunnar Norberg protested they were "mechanical monsters."

Purchase of individual tables to replace tables the council now uses was authorized, also new chairs. A mutual fire assistance agreement with the U.S. Naval Air Facility was approved by the council at the request of the fire chief. A walkway ramp at city hall with an abrasive safety surface and a rustic guard rail, appointments to the police reserve of Earl Wermuth, Clyde Klauermann Jr., Dick Lawitzke, Bernard Roberts and Allen Knight, received council approval. The Forestry Commission was given more time to make recommendations on an ordinance for control of trees on private property.

The enforcing of ordinances controlling personal conduct of persons, both in respect to imbibing intoxicating liquor and sleeping on the beach during Jazz festivals was left to the "discretion" of Police Chief Clyde Klauermann to enforce, possibly with the help of a removable sign and a special police officer in regard to the sleeping problem. Standards for constructing sidewalk curbs and gutters and catch-basins for street drainage were adopted. The sidewalk on the west side of Lincoln, Ocean to Seventh, will be widened and a curb built.

Lastly the council directed the city attorney to protest the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board

Mission Wedding Planned

Announcements in French from the families of Mrs. Annette W. M. Graven of Carmel and The Honorable Hugh H. Donovan, judge of the Superior Court of Contra Costa County, were going out to their friends late this week, telling of their forthcoming wedding at Carmel Mission Basilica, on Thanksgiving Day, November 23.

For several years a Carmelite, Mrs. Graven came to this country ten years ago from her native Holland. Judge Donovan, of Carmel and Pittsburg, California, has maintained a home in Carmel for many years. The couple met some months ago at a party.

Attending her mother will be Mrs. Peter R. (Antoinette) Perkins of Norfolk, Virginia. Another daughter, Mrs. John Eugene (Nathalie) Dutra, lives in Honolulu.

Friends of the bridal couple will also serve as attendants, Mr. and Mrs. Peter DeVries of Carmel.

The judge's family includes two sons, Dr. William Donovan of Wisconsin, and Jack Donovan, a teacher living in Japan.

Following the wedding, Judge Donovan plans to commute by car between his court duties at Martinez and his Carmel home, making the trip several times a week.

Steans Visit Daughter, Son

Home again after a two-week visit in the Southwest are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stean and daughter Sally, a freshman at Carmel High School, who visited the rest of the family in Arizona and New Mexico.

First they went to Tucson, Arizona, where their other daughter Karen, a Carmel High graduate of 1960, is now a sophomore majoring in foreign languages at the University of Arizona.

Karen joined them for the second leg of the trip, which took them to Roswell, New Mexico, where son Ralph is a senior at the New Mexico Military Institute. On the way home Mr. and Mrs. Stean and Sally stopped at Disneyland, which they said they enjoyed the more because of the diminished number of sightseers in the off-season.

transfer of an on-sale general liquor license from Hollister to Cypress West Hotel in Carmel on grounds that the transfer was made after the legal date permitting such action.

Councilman Norberg said "I explode officially and unofficially at the colossal nerve of persons seeking this hard liquor license. Councilman Chitwood pointed out it was within 300 feet of a church."

"The city has no law governing distances from churches in respect to liquor licenses," City Attorney John Morse told the council.

not one particular denomination."

The letter was approved unanimously by board members, with Dr. Snyder's addition.

In other action yesterday evening the school board:

Heard an interim report from Dr. Richard Bell, chairman, and other members of the Citizens' Educational Study Committee, which has re-elected Dr. Bell chairman for this year and has elected Mrs. Elizabeth Oenning secretary-treasurer. Dr. Bell said the committee had been meeting with High School Principal Warren Edwards and new junior high Principal Dr. Walter Klas on coordinating high school and junior high programs.

Approved Dr. Fletcher's appointments of Clayton B. Neill Jr., to serve as board representative on the school safety committee, Dr. Robert Newton to the same capacity on the recreation committee, and the re-appointment of Dr. Snyder as liaison with the professional study group.

POLICE COLUMN

Two more shaggy dogs were in the news this week. A Carmel Police Department report dated yesterday said the two big black shaggy animals, owned by Mrs. William Patnode were objects of a complaint lodged with police at 4:55 o'clock by G. L. Bowe. The dogs, Bowe said, had destroyed a yard, tearing up plants and flowers.

Also on police reports were a number of minor accidents. A motor scooter accident yesterday at 10:55 o'clock in the morning sent two youths from Carmel Valley to Community Hospital by Red Cross Ambulance operated by the Carmel Fire Department.

Hospitalized when the scooter was involved in a collision with a car at Fourth Avenue and Carpenter Street were the driver, Jackson G. Zenteno, and scooter passenger, Charles A. Flammini.

On Saturday at 12:16 o'clock in the morning a one-car accident occurred at San Carlos and Thirteenth Avenue when the driver, Lt. John A. Larkins of Fort Ord hit a utility pole. Both he and a passenger, Miss Fay Brasington of Pebble Beach were taken to Community hospital with minor injuries. He was later transferred to Fort Ord Hospital.

Also on Saturday an accident on Casanova Street two blocks south of Ocean Avenue caused minor injuries to two passengers, Miss Sharon L. Nicolai and Miss Linda R. Burt, both of Palo Alto. They were taken to Community Hospital by Red Cross Ambulance.

Peninsula Art

An exhibition of 18 watercolors lent by Mrs. Gustavo Bahnke of Carmel will open Monday in the Monterey Peninsula College library lecture hall. The work of three Chilean artists, all friends of Mrs. Bahnke, the watercolors will remain on view through December 1.

Mrs. Bahnke, whose husband, a Chilean naval officer, is a student at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, herself studied at the Vina del Mar, Chile, School of Fine Arts before coming to this country three years ago. The three artists represented in the MPC show, Mrs. Francisca de Mujica, Joyce Mitrovich and Lucy del Basso, were friends of Mrs. Bahnke at the school.

Opening Saturday at Gamble's Galleries, 428 Cannery Row, will be two showings of pictures, a one-man show by Abel G. Warshawsky, and a one-family show by Harold, Mabel, Walter and Rosemary Landaker. Exhibited in the gallery at the same time will be sculpture by Nick Guastella and pottery by Bernice Huber. The exhibits will continue through December 4.
